

PATERNITY LEAVE FACTS:

DADS NEED TO BOND, TOO!

Today, we're taking a look at how important bonding time is for dads and babies.

Dads haven't always had access to paternity leave or bonding leave, but now with New York's Paid Family Leave, they can take time to get to know their new babies and develop bonds that will last a lifetime.

And our claim data shows that many dads love to take bonding leave!

A little further down, we'll share some exclusive insights.

FATHERS' INVOLVEMENT ON THE RISE

Fathers have nearly tripled the time they spend caring for the children since 1965. ¹

PAID PATERNITY LEAVE IS NOT A COMMONLY PROVIDED BENEFIT

Only about 16.5% of U.S. worksites provide paid paternity leave ²

CULTURAL HURDLES

Outside of economic reasons, there are still some cultural hurdles that make dads think twice before taking leave, such as the perception of men as breadwinners rather than caregivers. ³

Duration and number of fathers in professional jobs taking paid paternity leave ⁴

44%
take 2-3 weeks

6%
use 4-5 weeks

7%
go for 6+ weeks

37%
use between one day to a week

POSITIVE IMPACTS OF PATERNITY LEAVE

- ✓ Dads who take at least 2 weeks off after birth continue to be more involved in their child's direct care than fathers who don't take leave. ⁵
- ✓ Dad's involvement continues to impact the child's development, including emotional stability and educational achievements. ⁶
- ✓ Mom and baby sleep better when dad is involved in caring for the little one during the first 6 months. ⁷
- ✓ It can help mom in her ability to return to work. ⁸

Paid Family Leave allows fathers to be more involved with their families, and play a larger role in caring for their children, while protecting their job and providing partial pay.

BONDING LEAVE UTILIZATION FOR FATHERS THROUGH PAID FAMILY LEAVE PROGRAMS

In California

the percentage of fathers taking Paid Family Leave to care for their new child went from 17% to 36%

(Since inception in 2004 to 2017) ⁹

In Rhode Island

fathers filed nearly

23%

of the claims for bonding in the program's first year in 2014. ¹⁰

NEW YORK

With NY PFL, dads in New York can now take to up to 8 weeks of partially paid time off to bond with their child until baby's first birthday. Based on our own claim data, NY dads really love to bond:

As of May 2018,

27%

of bonding claims are from fathers!

Our data shows early indication that PFL is helping dads overcome hurdles to take more time to bond:

almost 29% of fathers out on PFL take 2-3 weeks

14% of the fathers use between 4-5 weeks

over 17% actually go for 6-8 weeks of bonding leave the remaining 40% claims are for short periods and intermittent days
